

Textura Named One of the Constructech 50

Chicago, Illinois — July 13, 2011 — Textura Corporation, the leading provider of collaboration solutions for the construction industry, has again been recognized as a 2011 Constructech 50 company for the third year.

The Constructech 50 is a listing of the most influential construction technology providers with a strong and ongoing market presence. Published in the July/August issue of Constructech, the listing is determined by the editors of Constructech magazine.

Companies are judged on a variety of criteria, including having a strong product/service aimed at the construction industry, ongoing customer satisfaction and growth, as well as outreach and educational efforts for the construction industry, among others.

"As the technology available to the construction industry has blossomed, we here at Constructech have watched the solutions grow," says Mike Carrozzo, chief editor, Constructech magazine. "From the early days when companies first began trying to harness the Web, to now, when companies are offering automated payments and cloud solutions, technology is continually changing how construction business is conducted. The Constructech 50 winners exemplify an array of options that can be found today."

Pat Allin, Textura Chairman and CEO, said "We are proud to have achieved this award. It is further confirmation of our leadership in bringing collaborative, cloud solutions to the industry. When we started there were no software categories for our applications; now we are recognized as the leading provider of a complete invoicing and automated payments solution and our pre-qualification management solution is being called the future standard. We will continue to develop our technology platform and solutions to provide our clients with the ability to fully automate what have been manual processes until now."

"Since the launch of Constructech, we have definitely seen many changes throughout the industry. But, no matter where the industry stands as a whole, we have continuously seen companies step up to the plate in terms of services and solutions for construction professionals," says Peggy Smedley, editorial director, Constructech magazine. "The members of this year's Constructech 50 are no different. Their dedication to innovation and client-satisfaction will continue to enable the technology evolution for another 13 years.”
