

Textura Launches a City Tour Bringing Subcontractors and General Contractors Together

Textura has launched a city by city tour hosting events for local general contractors and subcontractors to come together to discuss best practices and current trends surrounding pre-qualification management. The tour currently includes events in Minneapolis, Phoenix, Chicago, and Birmingham. Every city has a different list of co-hosts and sponsors to provide relevance to each location.

Textura started the tour in August, 2010 and plan on visiting three more cities by the end of the year. Each seminar includes a complimentary breakfast followed by a short program where industry leaders share information about the need to improve pre-qualification procedures.

Minneapolis was the first stop. Over 200 subcontractors came to hear Adolfsen & Peterson Construction, Knutson Construction, and Ryan Companies speak about their experience with pre-qualification. Willis Insurance of MN also shared information about growing risks in the construction industry. At the end of the program all speakers were available to answer questions.

"It was great to see so many subcontractors networking, sharing stories, and finding answers to some of their questions," said Dave Smith, EVP of Textura Global Sales. Attendees were grateful to learn about marketing and networking opportunities as well as an efficient, cost effective industry solution designed to benefit both the general contractors and subcontractors.

The Phoenix seminar has been planned with American Subcontractors Association of Arizona, Adolfsen & Peterson, Core Construction, Ryan Companies, and Minard-Ames Insurance Services. The event is offered on both October 5th and 6th, 2010. Details for the Chicago and Birmingham event will be posted on www.texturacorp.com, soon.
