Construction Payment Management

www.texturacorp.com

Deerfield, Ill.

The payment process in construction is a necessary, yet often highly unreliable process that involves faxing, calculating, mailing, and emailing. Textura is helping the construction industry go paperless within this process. Owners, developers, and general contractors use this set of solutions to automate the payment process, as well as other cumbersome paper processes like subcontractor and supplier invoicing, and lien waiver collection. Users create electronic documents with electronic signatures, review, approve, and markup documents online. Disbursement is validated against compliance status and the information interfaces with many leading accounting and project management systems, ensuring no duplicate entry is needed. It saves the headaches involved with the typical payment process.
